CONTENTS

Preface xi

Introduction: Focusing the Question 1
  The Recurring Debate: Does God Exist? 1
  God versus Science: The Dawkins/Collins Debate 5
  Does God Exist? Was There a Time when the Question Did Not Arise? 7
  Mythos and Logos 10
  Questioning the Questions 12
  From the Classroom: Student Questions and Responses 13
  Questions for Reflection 14

Part One: Questioning the Philosophy of Religion 19

Chapter 1: Questioning Assumptions about Religious Belief 19
  Assumption 1: Believing Is the Focal Act of Faith 19
  A. Not All Religions Are Belief-Focused 19
  B. Even Religions That See to Be Belief-Focused May Not Be as Much as They Seem 21
  C. Assuming That Faith Is Belief-Focused Narrows Our Vision 22
  D. Believing Is Not an Intentional Activity 25
Contents

Religious Faith as Experiencing-As 84
A Critical View and a Response 85
A Theory of Religious Discourse 89
From the Classroom: Student Questions and Responses 92
Questions for Critical Reflection 94

Chapter 5: Rethinking the Rationality of Faith 95
The Question of the Rationality of Faith 95
Newton’s Scientific Achievement Revisited 96
The Democratic Achievement Revisited 97
The Pragmatic Examination of Religion: James, Nietzsche, Marx, and Freud 100
Some Problems with the Pragmatic Critique 107
Preliminary Conclusions 108
Fruitfulness as a Criterion? 109
Faith and the Fulfillment of the Human 113
Some Concluding Thoughts 121
Some Implications 122
From the Classroom: Student Questions and Responses 124
Questions for Critical Reflection 126

Glossary 127

Works Cited 131

Annotated Suggestions for Further Reading 135

Index 139